About us

Trusted partner

We are a young, dynamically developing distributor of semiconductors and electronic components. We specialize in the integrated supply of electronic components, materials and equipment for manufacturing enterprises of the electronic industry. Our product portfolio includes semiconductors, interconnects, passives, and electromechanical components.

We propose to our partners to consider the possibility of distributing Russian-made electronic components and semiconductors, including analogs of the obsolete products of leading world manufacturers.

Also, we are ready to carry out the development of electronics and microelectronics, primarily we specialize in the development of power systems. It is possible to develop microelectronic products to order. We are ready to offer software development according to your technical requirements.

Our motto

We build partnerships with customers.

Only the most transparent partnership will help to mutually beneficially cooperate.
